New trends and requirements

- Critical thinking
- Policy analysis
- Problem-solving
- Digital competencies
- Lifelong learning
- Interdisciplinary collaboration

Networking of EU universities

- A major structural insight is the rise of:
- European University Alliances,
- joint EU degrees,
- cross-border virtual classrooms,
- and collaborative curricula.
- Teaching is becoming more transnational and less nationally isolated.

Conclusion

EU-related education is becoming:

- more applied,
- more interdisciplinary,
- more digital,
- more policy-oriented,
- and more connected to real societal challenges.
